Welcome to the first-ever AFP Women’s Impact Summit, a celebration of the Women’s Impact Initiative (WII)!

WII was created to address the challenges that face women in fundraising—including gender inequity, sexual harassment and implicit bias, to name just a few—and to tell our stories as we bring our community together and find new solutions.

Since its launch, the initiative has accomplished so much: creating resources and educational content, developing new programs, and conducting groundbreaking research that highlights both challenges and opportunities.

We know the numbers all too well. Women make up at least 70 percent of the fundraising profession but only account for roughly 30 percent of senior fundraising positions. A quarter of all female fundraisers have experienced some type of harassment while on the job. And when holding all other factors equal, women make approximately ten percent less than men for the same job.

These figures are cold, hard truths, and we can not forget them. But we also know that they represent just the beginning. We now know the broad contours of the landscape we must change. We now have resources and solutions to help make that change possible.

The Women’s Impact Summit is our time to come together, celebrate what we have accomplished, and make positive plans that will transform our profession and the entire nonprofit sector. We will hear from thought leaders, trailblazing presenters and innovative researchers about new trends and best practices that will create meaningful impact. We will share and learn from each other to begin the important process of dismantling inequitable systems.

These are not easy conversations to have, and we recognize that each of us will be affected differently as we address these issues. We come together here at the Summit in the spirit of community, and we will respect each of our individual journeys and the unique perspectives we bring.

We are also grateful for the support of our allies joining us here who do not identify as women and recognize that the goal of our efforts encompasses everyone. Women cannot do this alone, and we are all affected by the challenges of inequity.

Thank you for being a part of this Summit. We have a long journey ahead, and these are just the first few steps. But we take them together, working to create a fundraising profession that is more equitable, diverse, inclusive and ultimately, more effective.

12:30 - 2:00 p.m.
Opening Keynote & Lunch: Mpumi Nobiva, International Speaker and Communication Strategist
Room: Valley of the Sun A/B/C
International speaker and communication strategist Mpumi Nobiva has spoken at the White House, congressional fundraisers, corporate functions and nonprofit initiatives in several countries. Mpumi grew up in South Africa and at age nine lost her mother to HIV/AIDS, leaving her orphaned like millions of other children in Sub-Saharan Africa. Reared in material poverty but spiritual wealth by her grandmother, she excelled in the first class of the Oprah Winfrey Leadership Academy for Girls in South Africa before coming to the United States to study. She currently holds a master's degree in Strategic Communications from High Point University and serves as the first alumnus on the Board of Directors of the Oprah Winfrey Leadership Academy for Girls in South Africa. As NationBuilder’s first Leader in Residence, Mpumi is developing the digital infrastructure for Share Your Story Africa—an initiative inspired by her advocacy work uniting youth against HIV/AIDS and domestic violence in South Africa—all while sharing her powerful story at events around the world.

Kimberly Churches is the chief executive officer of the American Association of University Women (AAUW), a leading voice in advancing equity for women and girls through research, advocacy and education. Prior to joining AAUW, Kim served as the managing director of the Brookings Institution, an internationally recognized public policy think tank. She has also served as an associate vice chancellor at the University of Denver, a director of development at the University of North Florida, and a division director at the American Heart Association. She has extensive experience working collaboratively on education (K-12 and higher education), as well as on capacity building among grassroots groups and national and international nonprofits.

In addition to her work at AAUW, Kim currently serves as the chair of the BUILD Metro DC board, which focuses on the power of experiential learning through entrepreneurship for underresourced communities, and is on the board of the Virginia Center for the Literary Arts. She is also a member of the International Women’s Forum of Washington, D.C., an organization that represents women leaders in diverse fields.

The Stakes Are Too High—Real Talk About Leading in Color
Room: Valley of the Sun B

It’s time for a conversation about leadership and what it’s like to lead as a woman of color in fundraising. During this fireside chat, we will explore the challenges of being a woman of color in development and achieving success in the face of adversity, learning from leaders who have navigated choppy waters.

Networking Break

11:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.
Breakout Education Sessions

Maintaining Professional Relationships with Donors (in a #MeToo world)
Room: Valley of the Sun A

Relationships with donors are professional—but they often operate like a personal relationship, and that can lead to inappropriate situations. Female fundraisers are over three times more likely to face inappropriate behavior from a donor than their male counterparts. In this scenario-based discussion, fundraisers explore the many nuances that exist within a professional donor relationship, gaining critical skills for establishing and maintaining appropriate boundaries. Participants will also explore a framework for assessing interactions with donors and potential donors and identify best practices for handling difficult and precarious situations (including gender and racial bias, political opposition, sexual harassment, and sexual misconduct).

Presented by: Mark McCampbell, Senior VP, Strategic Partnerships, Advancement Resources; Brikkelle Thompson, Director, Organization & Leadership Development and Talent Management, University of Minnesota Foundation

I’m a Fundraiser. What’s Gender Got to Do with It?
Room: Valley of the Sun B

In this interactive session, participants will examine the intersection of professional identity and gender. Drawing on national research, attendees will consider their personal values and professional identities, then reflect on how gender-role expectations intersect with their professional identity and what it means to be a successful fundraiser.

Presented by: Sarah K. Nathan, Ph.D., Indiana University, Lilly Family School of Philanthropy

12:15 - 1:15 p.m.
Breakout Education Sessions

Overcoming Pay Inequity
Room: Valley of the Sun A

Just as women are underrepresented in the upper tiers of nonprofits, the women who do occupy senior positions are often underpaid. In this session, we will highlight research and negotiation work led by AAUW, Community Brands, and other organizations who are creating solutions to close these gaps. You’ll not only leave with the facts behind pay inequity, you’ll also gain tips and strategies to help move the needle on both an individual and an organizational level.

Gender Works: Closing the Gender Gap Together
Room: Valley of the Sun B

A woman is asked to take notes at every meeting, even the ones she’s leading. A man is told he needs to “stop playing nice” with his direct reports. A transgender woman is not included in a working mothers’ group. Gender-based oppression shows up in ways big and small, and it harms all of us: women, men, and people who identify across and beyond the gender binary. The dynamics that play out in our workplace reinforce and maintain gendered systems of power, many times without us even recognizing it. Learn the ways gender shows up in our everyday work experiences, explore how gender norms affect you, and take away practical tools to ensure that gender works for us rather than against us.

Presented by: Alexis Kanda-Olmstead, Director, Advancement Talent Management, Dartmouth College

1:30 – 3:00 p.m.
Closing Keynote & Lunch: Teresa Younger, President and CEO of the Ms. Foundation for Women
Room: Valley of the Sun C

Teresa C. Younger is a renowned thought leader, strategist, advocate, activist and amplifier, having spent over 20 years on the frontlines of some of the most critical battles affecting the lives of women and their communities. Ms. Younger is the president and CEO of the Ms. Foundation for Women, the first (and oldest) women’s foundation. Under Ms. Younger’s leadership, the Foundation launched #MyFeminisms, a multimedia campaign sparking a national conversation on feminism; funded a groundbreaking report on the sexual abuse to prison pipeline; joined leading women’s foundations at the White House (under the Obama Administration) to announce a $100 million funding commitment to create pathways to economic opportunity for low-income women and girls; and led a campaign to hold the NFL accountable for violence against women.

As a thought leader, Ms. Younger’s contributions and expertise to the nonprofit and social justice arenas has been noted in BIG IMPACT: Insights and Stories from America’s Nonprofit Leaders and the Women’s Leadership Online Summit. She has been recognized by The Council on World Affairs, Aspen Institute, Princeton University, Harvard University, and NetRoots Nation. In 2015 she was chosen by Planned Parenthood Federation of America as a “Dream Keeper,” and in 2016 was named one of the “50 Most Powerful Women in Philanthropy” by Inside Philanthropy.

MALE ALLY

Be A Male Ally – Show up as a man who is supportive and attentive to the needs of women. Actively take steps to create environments that are inclusive and equitable.

Supporting women is not a women’s issue. It is everyone’s issue. Being a male ally is an effective way to change the landscape and create a new culture. It demonstrates your desire to create equity and be a champion for women. Male allies associate, cooperate and support women.

BEING A MALE ALLY IS RECOGNIZING THE INEQUALITY THAT EXISTS BETWEEN GENDERS/SEXES AND ACTIVELY TAKING STEPS TOWARDS AND STANDING UP FOR ISSUES THAT AFFECT WOMEN.

AN EFFECTIVE MALE ALLY ACTIVELY:

COMBATS WORKPLACE HARASSMENT

SPEAK UP, STAND UP, CALL IT OUT! Talk with your male colleagues about appropriate conduct in the workplace. Openly defend the victims of inappropriate behavior by men. Make it clear to other men that what they are saying or doing is inappropriate.

ADVOCATES FOR PAY EQUITY

PROMOTE PAY TRANSPARENCY AND ACCOUNTABILITY. Insist that salary ranges are posted with job descriptions for open roles. Demand fairness in compensation for all individuals in the same/similar roles.

CULTIVATES WOMEN IN LEADERSHIP

BECOME A MENTOR TO A FEMALE COLLEAGUE. Publicly acknowledge quality work by female colleagues. Talk openly with female colleagues about opportunities for promotions and growth within the company. Actively promote women into leadership opportunities.

THE ABC’S OF BEING AN ACTIVE ALLY

AMPLIFY THE FEMALE VOICE

Ask your female colleagues for their opinions on business endeavors. If you see a female colleague get interrupted, let the room know that you’re interested in hearing her thoughts, and ask her to share her comments. Make sure there are opportunities for women to join working groups and committees.

BE ACCOUNTABLE

When someone points out your mistakes, acknowledge the impact of the wrong that was done, apologize for the act, and let the lesson carry you forward. Hold other men to the same accountability.

CHALLENGE SOCIAL NORMS

An effective male ally calls out microaggressions, male privilege, gender stereotypes, and existing systems and biases that don’t promote equity and inclusivity.

DOING YOUR HOMEWORK AND RESEARCH

EXPLORE EVIDENCE OF WOMEN’S OBSTACLES AND LEARN FROM OTHERS TO SUPPORT WOMEN’S GOALS AND ENCOURAGE THEIR AMBITIONS.

- Ask their pronoun
- Talk to your female colleagues. Have honest conversations about barriers, beliefs, and experiences
- Learn from other male allies. Be comfortable asking for feedback and understand that you don’t know what you don’t know.
- Research your workplace policies. Do they account for lactation rooms? Gender-neutral bathrooms? Equal parental leave policies?

Anti-Sexual Harassment Practices

Prepared by Drs. Erynn Beaton and Megan LePere-Schloop

Demonstrate a commitment to equality and inclusion
- Assess presence of sexual harassment
- Have diverse leadership and board
- Leadership engagement
- Set and promote clear values
- Conduct reference checks on new hires
- Standardize human resource practices
- Devote appropriate resources to sexual harassment

Follow or exceed federal and state laws
- Know the laws
- Ensure policy is consistent with laws
- Train employees according to law

Write a clear anti-sexual harassment policy
- Define sexual harassment in the policy
- Identify the reporting/investigation process in the policy
- Identify all stakeholders in policy
- Include consequences in policy
- Involve stakeholders in drafting policy
- Prohibit retaliation within policy
- Review the policy regularly
- Translate the policy
- Enforce the policy

Encourage employees to report sexual harassment
- Make reporting simple
- Make reporting safe
- Make reporting anonymous
- Don't allow retaliation
- Respect all complainants

Properly investigate all complaints
- Don't wait for a formal complaint
- Document all complaints and investigations
- Follow an investigative plan
- Investigate every complaint consistently
- Notify board and insurance of allegations
- Respond immediately to complaints
- Gather information from all parties
- Draw on sexual harassment experts and resources
- Maintain confidentiality when possible
- Update complainant and accused
- Make a determination

Take appropriate action on sexual harassment complaints
- Prepare for external exposure
- Take remedial action
- Communicate the determination
- Don't provide positive references for harassers
- Conduct an audit of practices

The findings, conclusions, and recommendations expressed in this report are the product of research conducted by the author(s) and do not represent the views of either the John Glenn College of Public Affairs or The Ohio State University.
Thank You to Our Leadership Development Mentors and Mentees!

One of the most powerful and effective ways to build sustainable female leadership is through mentorship. Mentorship provides role models, helps mentees understand what they can and will become, and creates an open and supportive place for questions, guidance and advice.

AFP is proud to congratulate the participants in the first year of our Mentoring and Leadership Development Program!
Over the last two years, the AFP Women’s Impact Initiative has:

- Conducted ground-breaking research on sexual harassment and gender pay inequity in the fundraising profession;
- Created new educational materials, including fact sheets, videos, workbooks and webinars, on all aspects of gender equity and equality;
- Developed new policies and procedures for use by the association and to be used as a model for charities around the world;
- Launched mentorship, executive coaching, and cultural awareness programs to advance women’s issues; and
- Inspired thousands of women and their allies to stand up, speak out and take action as we work to create a profession that is equitable, inclusive, diverse and effective.

As we celebrate our work at the Women’s Impact Summit, we know this is just the beginning of our journey, together.

The AFP Conference Code of Conduct

AFP is dedicated to providing a harassment-free conference experience for everyone, regardless of gender, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, age or religion. We do not tolerate harassment of conference participants in any form. Sexual language and imagery is not appropriate for any conference venue, including talks. Conference participants violating these rules may be sanctioned or expelled from the conference without a refund at the discretion of the conference organizers. Harassment includes, but is not limited to:

- Verbal comments that reinforce social structures of domination related to gender, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, age, religion;
- Sexual images in public spaces;
- Deliberate intimidation, stalking, or following;
- Harassing photography or recording;
- Sustained disruption of talks or other events;
- Inappropriate physical contact;
- Unwelcome sexual attention;
- Advocating for, or encouraging, any of the above behavior.

Thank YOU for being with us, sharing your stories and supporting each other.

Thank you to our chair, Tycely Williams, CFRE, for her outstanding leadership, and to our incoming chair, Liz LeClair, CFRE.

And thank you to our sponsors and partners for their incredible work!
